Two Men Make an Ideal Home.

The best housekeeper in town. That is what every woman with a home as pires to be. Recently we were in the house of one of the best.

"Is it I, 'Is it I,' we can hear the Norway women say in their minds when they have read so far. No it was not a woman at all. It was a man. Rather it was two men, and their cozy house is a model of neatness, taste and good order.

Have you ever visited Allard & Moulton's new house on Pike's Hill? By the way, the housekeeping is not the main branch of the firm's business. They are successful tailors and do a good business at their shop in the Noyes block on Main street, where they have been established a dozen years or more. Before that they were engaged in the manufacture of clothing.

These gentlemen have chosen to live a bachelor life and a few years ago having become tired of boarding, they concluded to build their own home.

Two tables were set and other groups plunked from baskets. They had no set program, neither literary efforts, but all ate, drank (lemonade) and were merry. They visited with each other and enjoyed the cool out-of-doors under the trees.

The grange went by special invitation from Brother and Sister A. P. Farnham, to a basket picnic at Farnham's cottage.
The day was perfect and about 250 grangers with a few invited guests attended to enjoy the sports of the day, and to sample the baked beans and coffee so generously furnished for all, by the host and hostess. The beans were baked in the ground which was a novelty to many.

Tables were spread for all who wished to use them, but a few felt that it would be more like a picnic to sit on the ground and partake of their goodies from their baskets.

The horrors made their appearance about 11 o'clock a. m., and there was no mistaking what they intended to represent, their garments told that plainly enough, but they were a very civil crowd of horrors and they made a good appearance adding much pleasure to the day.

In the afternoon they listened to telegrams in the telephone. Boating was enjoyed on the pond north for the first time. The cottage and grounds are fine, and Brother and Sister Farnham were untiring in their hospitality, and being very talkative. A game of ball was enjoyed by the young people in the afternoon.

Bertha Mann, who teaches in Lebanon,
N. H., is at home.

4th with E. E. Young returned home on Sunday.

The "Norway Bakery" is out with a new cart, a bright yellow body with red wheels.

It was rough on the small boy to have the circus season strike him just as the Fourth had bankrupted him.

Thomas H. Slater of Lewiston, formerly of Norway, is the leading spirit of the Scottish Clans in the state.

Mrs. Lou M. Ashton of Swampscott,
Mass., who has been visiting a few days
Mrs. E. E. Young, has returned home.

Arthur Sanborn caught his left hand in a belt at the shoe shop, Wednesday morning, and crushed the two of his fingers.

H. B. Esmond, M. D., and mother of Beatrice, Vermont, are spending a few days as guests at Dennis Pike's, Winter street.

Harry Smith of Lynn, son of the late Ivory Smith, visited friends here recently. He is foreman in a shoe factory in that city.

Thomas F. Harney and family of Lynn, are visiting in town. Mr. Harney for some years lived here and worked for
B. F. Spinney & Co.

Morrill N. Packard and wife of Baltimore, Md., are expecting to visit friends and relatives in this vicinity about the middle of next month.

The office of the Dennis Pike Real Estate Agency, No. 4, old Noyes Block, is being painted which adds very much to the general good looks of the place.

H. C. Oxnard has moved from his farm in Yaggar to his new home on Crescent street, the late Dr. S. A. Bennett residence. Frank Oxnard has moved from West Medford, Mass., on to the farm.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Betsey Pierce French died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Pearson, Jamaica Plain, Mass., April 21, 1907, aged 80 years, her birth being on Jan. 24, 1827. This estimable lady was a life-long resident of Norway where her husband, the late Osgood French, died some years ago. Three beautiful children were given them to bring added blessings to their pleasant home, two of whom, Orrington and Viola sleep in the hillside cemetery, where both father and mother await with them the day
dawn, never to be followed by night.
The surviving daughter, Mrs. Adelaide E. Pearson, with whom she resided most of the time and with whom she died, is in very feeble health.

"Aunt Betsey" as many delighted to call her, was a woman of great intellectual wealth and of lovely Christian character. For many years she contributed articles of rare merit to a number of religious publications. In faith an Adventist, her Christian fellowship alike to all true believers in the Saviour whom she loved.

As her funeral service was held in Jamaica Plain on account of the illness of her daughter, her many friends in Norway desired a memorial service to be held at that place, and on June 22, large company gathered at the chapel near her home and the writer endeavored to honor the memory of the beloved one and comfort those who so truly mourn her absence, from texts found in Prov. 31:23 and Rev. 21:4.

There were many beautiful offerings of flowers and from the center of one, a lovely pillow, her dear pictured face looked forth upon the sorrowing band.
The following poem suggested by her words when dying was read in connection with the sermon.

"Haven't I been good?" she asked with the old-time quaintness.
As the billows surged around, the waves of mortality chill.
She smiled in the face of her nurse thro' death's pallor and faintness.
"Haven't I been good," then who doth He linger till
Nor take me to my rest, I who am weary, so weary.
Who tasted the chalice of grief, let the sword
burst of pain.
Who, but for a child's love, have found these Since dear ones went out of the door, and came not again.
I have longed to see again my dear hills of Norway.
And bled with fell disease, the vision desired to gaze.
Now I am yearning more for the arms of the buried to rest my head, than for the arms of
And I wish to sleep on the breast, forgetting in slumber my pain.
"Haven't I been good?" she asked as a child of
is mother.
And the comforting answer came, "Always and straightway she fell asleep, to rest in the care of our Father.
Till she wakes to see with joy the hills of the earth made new.

Hills fairer than Norway hills and bright with glory celestial.
No graves their valleys enfold, nor sorrows
their shadows hide.
There echo sweet songs from lips that sang amid changes terrestrial.
And the family will gather at last in that some evermore to abide.
MRS. J. E. JORDAN.

Hail Dedicated.

Wednesday evening at the Heywood club's new hall on Crockett Ridge was held a largely attended and most enjoyable social gathering. The people came from all directions in all sorts of conveyances, single teams, double teams, and hayracks. Over 200 were served to a bountiful supper and a number came who did not take supper, so there were about 300 present in all. After supper the following entertainment was given:

Music.....
Quartet.....
Solo, Lona Noble.....
Dedication address.....
Reading.....
Recitation.....
Music.....
The entertainment was greatly enjoyed by all. The singing was fine. Mr.
Barnes' address well suited to the occasion; Dr. Bennett's paper was interesting and attentively listened to.

Immediately following the entertainment the hall was cleared for dancing.
The music was furnished by the violin and Tuba bands at the organ furnished music.

The first dances the floor was rather crowded but as some began to leave, home it was soon more comfortable.
Everybody entered in the dancing with great spirit. Horace Sawyer became so enthusiastic as to put his foot through a weak spot in the floor to the merriment of the crowd. The floor as yet is not quite completed.

The Heywood club was originated about three years ago by Mrs. Thurston started with 18 members. There are now 22 members and by giving suppers at the homes of the members and from the contributions received have built this club house.

Mrs. Bethia B. Chaffin.

Mrs. Bethia B. Chaffin passed away at the age of 78 years at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Whitman, June 7, after a few days of sickness. She was a woman loved by all who knew her and leaves to mourn her loss, a sister, daughter and three grandchildren besides a great many friends.

George E. Tubbs' residence on Paris street is being painted.

Mrs. F. R. Staples of Lewiston, visited at Geo. L. Curtis', Wednesday.

Wm. Kilburn of Auburn, is working at the Noyes Drug Store during the absence of Frank Kimball.

It is reported by good authority that E. C. Winslow has purchased the building now occupied by F. H. Beck's store.
Mrs. O. N. Bradbury observed her seventy-fifth birthday, Wednesday evening, with a number of her friends at Dr.
B. F. Bradbury's.

Don't throw waste paper in the streets.
This is thoughtlessly done by a good many nice people. We recently picked up four envelopes and the wrappers of three papers in the street. We can give the names of the parties and it would surprise you. We attribute it to thought-lessness. Don't do it.

Dr. J. G. Gehring of Bethel, and Wm.
E. Murdoch of Boston, Dexter Tiffany,
St. Louis; Curtis Nye Smith, Denver,
Colorado and Wm. H. Boardman of Cleveland, Ohio, put in last Saturday base fishing on the lake. They caught some forty fish and had a good day's sport. They returned to Bethel on the evening train.

The vaudeville given at Central Park,
Fourth of July night by local talent under the management of Walter Chandler was largely attended and gave good satisfaction. After the entertainment there was roller skating. Saturday evening there was another vaudeville, most of the acts being different from those of Thursday evening. This was also largely attended.

The Fourth by North Pond.

Norway Grange had a picnic the Fourth in the Farnum grove on the shore of North Pond. This was a delightful place for a picnic and many favored themselves of the opportunity of attending. Two tables were set and other groups plunked from baskets. They had

Song of the Two Clerks.

Sugar and molasses,
Almost anything,
Just step into the grocery store,
This song the clerk will sing.
Ham, lamb, sheep and mutton,
How he had prepared himself for such
Just walk into the meat room,
This is the song of Bill.
We have pork by the barrel,
Our meat is kept on ice;
The ladies cry, "Oh my, Mr. Smith,
And those ham and loins on ice!"
Our oil comes by the barrel,
Our flour comes the same,
We have about all the trade in town,
And we are not to blame.
We have everything that's wanted,
So you can see at a glance
That we will run another year,
Regardless of the chance.
Lovell, Me. ANNA SMITH.

Criminal Carelessness.

Oh, hymen is a careless lad
Who often lets his torch
Out, and then makes matches
That are apt to make things scorched;
He reckons it a jolly lark
This making matches in the dark,
And I'm really very much afraid
That is how most of them are made.

The Planting of the Pine.

White pine is suitable for planting on nonagricultural lands throughout the region. Much of the abandoned farm land in the New England States may profitably be planted with white pine, and the tree is well adapted to burned and cut-over forest lands and to watersheds.

White pine grows best on a fresh, light, deep and sandy soil with a porous subsoil. It will succeed, however, on a variety of soils, from fresh, medium heavy clay and loam to dry sands. It will endure windy and cold exposures, but should not be planted near the sea coast, since it will not endure strong sea breezes.

Plantations of white pine are best established by the use of 3-year-old transplants. The trees should be planted 6 feet apart each way. They may be planted either pure or in mixture with shade-enduring hardwoods or conifers. It is essential, however, that the associated species should be of slower growth, since otherwise they will overtop and kill the planted pine. There are also certain light-demanding species of rapid growth which may be mixed with white pine. These, while they may overtop the pine, cast so light a shade that its development will not be retarded.

The more important species for planting in mixture with white pine are spruce, red oak, and sugar maple. Ordinarily, white pine and the associated species should be planted alternately, so that the white pine will make up half the stand. In mixture with chestnut and European larch, however, white pine should constitute at least two-thirds of the stand.

Commercial plantations of white pine should be cut when from 40 to 70 years old. At this time the trees will be from 50 to 80 feet high and from 12 to 18 inches in diameter. The larger trees will furnish saw timber, while the bulk of the plantation will find ready sale as wooden ware, and straight cooperage. When there is a demand for small material, the stand may be profitably thinned at the age of 20 to 30 years.

Because of its thin bark young white pine is very susceptible to injury by fire. Between the fifth and twentieth years, however, the greatest cause of injury to the white pine is the weevil, which, in the grub stage, mines in the terminal shoot and causes a crooked stem. Repeated attacks make the tree unmerchantable.—(Department of Agriculture.)

Steps to Fortune.

A modest, unassuming young business man, to his great surprise, was recently promoted to a position very much in advance of the one he then occupied. He did not understand when, or where, or how he had prepared himself for such an unexpected promotion. His friends, however, and those who had been watching his career knew that unconsciously he had been preparing for his promotion ever since he took a job as an errand boy in an office. Indeed, if he had had the position to which he has been advanced in mind from the outset, and if every step he took had been adapted toward it, he could not have adopted a more effective means for the attainment of his end.

As a boy, this young employee did not wait to be told things, or to do this or that when it was obvious that it should be done. He found out all he could for himself by observation, by keeping his eyes and ears open, and by being constantly on the alert to increase his knowledge; and he always did whatever he saw needed to be done, without waiting for orders. He did everything that was given him to do as well as he possibly could do it. He did not wait for his opportunities, but found his chance in every little thing that came his way.

In every act he performed he found a chance to be prompt, businesslike and polite. In every letter he wrote he found an opportunity for self-culture, for learning how to be concise and how to express himself in the clearest and purest English. He found an opportunity for neatness and order in filing away papers and in keeping the office clean and tidy. These, remarks the New York Weekly, are a few of the steps which led to his rapid promotion, although when he was taking them he was not conscious that he was laying the foundation of his career broad and deep.

PARIS HILL.

Good Time on the Hill
The glorious Fourth passed very quietly with little noise or ruckus such as has been witnessed at in the past. All the racket which usually takes place the night before was over by ten o'clock and there was no bell ringing or gun-firing till morning. The boys of course had lots of noise bottled up for the night. This was a great kindness from the boys and everyone appreciates the act.

In the morning there was a band concert on the common at 9.30. The Cadet Band furnishing music both for the concert and the exercises which followed. At 10.30 the people gathered under the trees in front of the Baptist church where the literary program was carried out. E. M. Ames of Boston to offer the opening prayer.

Mr. Atwood then introduced F. O. Case who read the Declaration of Independence. Rev. C. A. Kilduff, of Arlington, Mass., pastor of Paris Universalist church, followed. He spoke of the significance which the noise of the bells, guns and horns gives the day.

"On the whole, perhaps," said he, "I would be willing to suppress the horns as having no real meaning unless it is that some of our ancestors sold fish."

The noise should be allowed and encouraged as a means of setting the day apart from the routine of the year.

Mr. Knickerbocker was followed by Rev. Charles Gordon Ames, D. D., of the Church of the Disciples, Boston. He spoke of the need of intelligent and honest work to raise the standard of life and patriotism. There is nothing worse for people than ignorance, which is another name for Satan.

The last speaker of the day was Rev. Alexander Mann, Rector of Trinity church, Boston. He spoke of the American idea as exemplified by the gathering on the green. Nowhere else in the world, save in America, would you find a hundred or more people gathered quietly, orderly, dignified, with no need of police or surveillance of any kind.

Space forbids the full report of these speeches which were good from beginning to end.

Mrs. J. B. Cole and son Howard are visiting at Guild Hall, Vt.

Most everybody in this vicinity attended the celebration at North Lovell, and reported a fine time. The fireworks were especially enjoyed by the children.

They are blasting out the ledge and have about six feet deeper to go. A steam drill has been ordered and is expected to arrive in a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bonney came to Fred Bonney's last week, Wednesday afternoon. Harry is a half brother of Fred. For four years he was motorman in Boston but the strain of long and broken hours was too much for his health, and for about six months he has been suffering with a brain trouble. The doctors gave him little encouragement, but sent him into the country. He hopes that the quiet of the country might be beneficial. Wednesday afternoon he went for a bicycle ride and was headed towards Penley's grove. Late Thursday night he returned in an ambulance, with a broken bicycle. He was unable to tell where he had been, but it seems most probable that he went in search of some pond lilies which he saw growing about two miles below Mechanic Falls a few days before.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Barnes, Mrs. J. P. Sprague of Chicago, Mrs. Nathan A. Chase of Ilion, N. Y., Eva E. Walker, Alta C. Walker, Florence M. Jewett of Denmark, Helen Barnes and Olive Barnes of Portland were at Camp Owsley, Harrison, from Wednesday to Saturday last week.

Two bad rooms for the two tenements in the addition behind the house of Arthur E. Clark are being finished up. The Maxim building store and tenement will be occupied by Aldrich's family.

Oliver Swift, who is studying to be a trained nurse at the Newton hospital, Newton Lower Falls, Mass., is at home for a vacation. He is visited by Eva Taylor, who is studying in the same hospital. A. Abbott and son, Gordon, of Lynn, Mass., are also guests at the Swifts.

About the usual racket was made here, "the night before the Fourth."

The rope of the Methodist bell was pulled up so it couldn't be rung, but the Congregational bell and the school bell were fairly well worked, and quite a lot of gun-powder was burned. A big fire was burned in the yard of the brick school house, and more or less good barrels and other movable property went up in that.

At the farm of F. E. Buck at Elm Hill, July 4th, was the most pleasant family reunion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pitching horse shoes and turning a ice cream freezer were popular games, especially the latter at which Charles Young took the cake. There were in all 27 members of the family present.

Special Corporation Meeting.

The special corporation meeting held last week was not largely attended but a good interest was manifest. The meeting was called to order by clerk E. N. Haskell. Walter L. Gray was chosen moderator.

The resignations of E. H. Dorr and W. E. Jenne as assessors was accepted and W. L. Libby and James S. Wright were elected in their places.

The report of the water committee was made by chairman Geo. H. Davis of the corporation assessors and consisted mainly in reading the proposition submitted by the Norway Water Co. just before the first of April. The price named in this, as is generally known, is $42 50 per hydrant for fire service, and ten cents per thousand gallons for park and street sprinkling, for a twenty-year contract.

After some informal discussion the report was laid on the table. The matter relative to the proposed Hall pond was taken up and George R. Morton gave such information as he could. A motion was made and carried that a committee of seven be appointed to employ an engineer and make full investigation of the water supply of the town.

This committee Geo. R. Morton, John A. Scott, A. E. Shurtliff, John J. Emery, W. B. Young, Charles W. Bowker and Arthur E. Forbes.

The unexpended balance of the appropriation for the Hall pond investigation, amounting to about $160, was placed at the disposal of the committee.

J. W. Penney, a well-known citizen of Mechanic Falls, was in town last week looking up the burial places of soldiers of the Revolution. Mr. Penney has been collecting data of this kind for a few years past which, later on, will be turned over to the Sons of the American Revolution and published in book form.

He finds that some 500 Revolutionary soldiers settled in Oxford county, about 400 of whom were on the pension rolls.

Superintendent Davis of the Oxford Creamery says that business so far increased it has been found necessary to employ an extra hand. To meet this demand the services of Peter Kane have been procured.
